The interpretation on the following pages is personal to you, and absolutely unique to the time and place you supplied. Astrology depends on birthtimes which are accurate to the nearest minute. Please realise that most birthtimes have been rounded off, perhaps even to the nearest hour, with consequent possibility of error in the interpretation.

Most computer horoscopes consist of lengthy but vague standard paragraphs, one for each of the above chart factors, etc. Starword was the first horoscope program - ever - to weigh up chart factors and correctly synthesise them into a meaningful portrait of you, using exactly the same methods as a human astrologer, by first examining all the factors bearing on a particular trait before pronouncing on it.

Because the Starword computer program constructs its own sentences from thousands of short phrases and single words stored in its memory, there may be an occasional wording that is not quite so elegantly expressed as a human writer would have made it. But the meaning is there, and any paradoxes which appear will be found in your own character. Also please note that this interpretation is concise in style, and should be read with care.

General Character

You are basically a restless person; fairly enthusiastic when interested in something; and slightly competitive. You are usually highstrung in temperament, fairly sensitive, and impressionable. You are slightly dependent on others.

Emotions are none too strong. You are probably influenced by unconscious factors.

You have integrity. Your approach to life is refreshingly youthful, keeping a certain quality of innocence with regard to some of your experiences.

You may spend energy seeking perfection; you may possibly adopt a slightly superficial approach to life in some ways; whilst you have a fairly strong will. Your usual attitude to established methods is to stick to well-tried principles. You could do with a little more initiative. You are adaptable to external changes.

When it comes to action, it seems you are energetic enough: you don't always commit yourself totally to a project. You act reasonably quickly. You are careful, and efficient. Your methods are orthodox, but slightly unreliable. You appear to others to be quite predictable in behaviour. You are versatile.

Your general disposition is cheerfully optimistic, and is slightly outgoing. You project an image which is lively, perhaps even fidgety.

Mentality

Mentally, you are active, blessed with a touch of originality, ingenious, and the owner of a good memory. You think quickly. Your thoughts are seldom muddled; your mind is pretty straight-forward; there is a touch of wisdom; though commonsense is occasionally lacking. You are a little undisciplined mentally; but a logical thinker. You can show some sense of structure; be good at detail; and come up with practical ideas. When your best mental powers are needed, you are able to analyse, investigation doesn't really appeal, you can penetrate to the heart of the matter, and problems normally get solved. In looking ahead you appear to be foresighted, good at planning, and a brilliant strategist.

You have some imagination. You like to spend time daydreaming now and then. On the whole you are more of a realist, without implying that you totally lack idealism.

Judgements are reached quickly; nevertheless often good. When examining various ideas you show intolerance. Opinions are strongly held.

You may appear a little diffident on the surface and indeed you really lack self-confidence. You are mentally relaxed. Your mental attitude is fairly subjective, and often influenced by ulterior motives.

In your own education you would be quick to pick things up, very good at studying, and curious enough to want to keep adding to your store of knowledge. Difficulties or obstacles in education should not prove a problem since they will probably never arise.

In your speech and writing the words flow well, you are quite talkative, and expression is reasonably good. Your communications normally express what you mean to say. In verbal expression you are critical, and fond of argument. You seem to be witty, and inclined to indulge in trivial talk.

Recreations & Career

The following recreations suggest themselves as the most apt for your talents:

Keeping pets
Literature and poetry
Music
Astrology

The above do not rule out other activities, but would be the best lines of exploration if you are looking for fresh interests.

Recreations are sometimes a guide to help one choose the right career. Nevertheless, the following information is more specific and should help considerably. You have the ability to become skilled at some kind of craft: you have mathematical ability: moreover, your special abilities have been carefully considered, and here are the jobs at which you should do well:

Clerk or Librarian
Secretary or Reporter
Art Dealer, Jeweller, Selling fancy goods
Writer

On the other hand, you are advised that you are unlikely to succeed at the following:

Professional Sport
Clothes and fashion
Psychology

If ever you have career problems, or become dissatisfied with your job, please think carefully about the above suggestions.

Whatever job you undertake, in any case it would be as well if it were unusual in some way, if this is possible. You would be happiest working in company with a few other people, perhaps. You could do reasonably well under someone else's authority. With your co-workers, it looks as if relations should be satisfactory, though you spend far too much time demanding that their work is up to scratch.

You are very businesslike, very efficient, very hardworking, and very reliable in your job.

You seem to have no desire to take a position of authority, and no liking for fame. You are likely to experience a few obstacles to your progress, with not too many job changes.

Personal Relationships

You can expect some problems in this area, and you will have to make certain efforts to solve them.

There will probably be a preference for associating with easy-going or intellectual types.

You are not really an over-friendly person. Friendships will be formed only after overcoming a feeling of reserve. You appear to be capable of little generosity. You prefer a harmonious atmosphere so normally avoid quarrelling; but you enjoy argument and debate, almost for their own sake. There's a touch of pride in your makeup; moreover you are a tiny bit defensive and suspicious. You have a callous streak, unfortunately, and an impersonal manner. When talking to others you often let out information it would be wiser to suppress, and you can be slightly tactless.

You like to keep fairly well in the background, rather than deliberately draw attention to yourself; moreover it doesn't worry you too badly if people don't express their admiration of you. Advice from others is none too welcome. When other people have problems, you are usually fairly understanding, and fairly sympathetic. You like helping people, and you don't promise something without being able to back it up. You could fall into the trap of trying to impose your own moral values on everybody else; also you enjoy making moral decisions for others. People will hold you in respect.

It is just possible that you could get into situations involving deception - deliberate or not. You can usually sense other people's moods, a very useful facility. When other people cross your path, you are very prone to making an insult out of nothing: you are ready to forgive. Anger sometimes gets repressed. No one has any difficulty in getting to know and understand you. You are just a little susceptible to flattery.

Love & Marriage

Obviously there is overlap between this and the preceding section.

Relations with the opposite sex could be difficult. You find it hard to stay faithful to one person, preferring the excitement of new relationships, so naturally there'll be quite a few love affairs in your life. It is interesting that you are extremely likely to confuse love and friendship, with possibly embarrassing results. With your loved one, you don't dominate. Your romantic attitude to love makes you inclined to idealise the whole question, also a little subject to illusion. You all too easily feel unloved, and you'll probably face family interference in love or marital matters. Your affections are unstable. You are very good at expressing your love, indifferent yourself to demonstrations of love, but a wee bit possessive.

You have a normal sex drive with certain inhibitions. Your partner will find you a bit unresponsive to sensualities, and interested in other things besides just sex. There is some probability that your spouse would be of a different age-group. The marriage would prove rather difficult to keep happy, and need fairly constant efforts to avoid the threat of rifts.

Domestic & Other Matters

The acquisition of wealth does not particularly occupy your energies. It looks as if you are reasonably thrifty, a wise spender, yet faced with financial instability for much of the time. You should take particular care when speculating or gambling your money.

Family matters are important to you, and could prove quite a tie. At home you desire to feel secure from the world and to have a fair degree of comfort. Your home is likely to be quite beautiful. Domestic routine would find you willing to accept it, and happy to run things. On the whole, domestic life could be a little happier. Activities at home will probably involve using the house for study purposes.

Where children are concerned, you are fond of them. If you did have children, they would not cause more than the odd problem here and there. You would be quite protective towards them.

Advice on health is best left to a doctor, but I can say a little. You are liable to nervous troubles. You may care to take appropriate precautions by slowing down the pace of life. It looks as though you are very careful with your health normally. You are sensitive to the effects of alcohol and drugs, and should avoid them on the whole.

Life Pattern

This final section attempts to identify any general tendencies in your life which may not have emerged clearly from the main body of the above interpretation.

On the debit side, you could find yourself believing yourself to be more important than you actually are, besides getting involved in far too many activities and so failing to complete them properly. Don't be surprised to find finally, be prepared not to achieve all your aims; you might end up a little bit lonely; whilst you could be a bit unhappy on the whole, if you cannot learn to overcome your faults.

Postscript

The Starword horoscope computer program has been as frank and truthful as possible. It has pointed out your weaknesses as well as your strengths. But it must be remembered, in all forms of astrology, that we are not helplessly ruled by the planets. We must, and do, exercise freewill to control our lives; also environmental influences and changing world conditions play their part. Many people have found that the Starword interpretation describes them most accurately in youth, say in their twenties. You spend the early part of your life becoming the person described by your birth chart and the rest of it developing from that. How that development takes place is largely up to you, but we hope that this delineation will assist you in your quest for greater happiness and fulfillment.
